DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

The amendment to the claims to make the claims all composition claims depending from claim 11, removes the restriction. Accordingly, all the pending claims have been examined.

Claim Objections

Claims 20 and 25 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. The claims are recited as product-by-process claims, accordingly, they are product or composition claims. The method of making the composition does not provide further limitations to the composition claim and are therefore objected for failing to further limit the previous claim.

The invention defined in a product-by-process claim is a product, not a process. In re Bridgeford, 149 U.S.P.Q. 55 C.C.P.A. (1966). It is the patentability of the product claimed and NOT of the recited process steps which must be established. In re Brown, 173 U.S.P.Q. 685 C.C.P.A. (1972); In re Wertheim, 191 U.S.P.Q. 90 C.C.P.A. (1976).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 11-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Usui et al. (Usui). US 2004/0042965 A1.

The Usui reference discloses the composition comprising aluminum, magnesium and iron powders (section [0125]), filler, additive and/or hydrogen scavengers (see section [0146]).

The Usui patent does not disclose the relative percentages of the components, rather is discloses the addition of material based upon the total amount of the metal powders (see claims 1-32).

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Usui to use different concentrations of the components by the teachings contained therein.

One having ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this modification, because it has been well settled that such modification to concentration is well within the purview of the ordinary artisan and to find workable values within the broad range would have been obvious.

Normally, change in concentration, is not patentable modification; however, such changes may impart patentability to process if ranges claimed produce new and unexpected result which is different in kind and not merely in degree from results of prior art; such ranges are termed "critical" ranges, and applicant has burden of proving such criticality; even though applicant's modification results in great improvement and utility over prior art, it may still not be patentable if modification was within capabilities of one skilled in art; more particularly, where general conditions of claim are disclosed in prior art, it is not inventive to discover optimum or workable ranges by routine experimentation. In re Aller et al, 105 U.S.P.Q. 233 CCPA (1955).
